Seniors

It is comforting to know that we are friends.
That we can share our thoughts
with each other in confidence, that we can listen and care
for each other with love and concern.

It makes my heart glad to know that we are friends.
And I want to tell you how much I care and,
how often I am thinking of you.
Have a wonderful day,
friend.

THE WAY WE WERE

Memories, like the corners
Of my mind,
Misty water-colored memories
Of the way we were.
Scattered pictures
Of the smiles we left behind,
Smiles we gave to one another,
For the way we were.

I'm Tim Kellerman from Osterholz-Scharmbeck, West Germany. My parents are Lisa and Timm Kellerman who are both employed as teachers and I also have a sister, Britta.

Osterholz-Scharmbeck has a population of 25,000 people and is the home of a major American army base in Germany. Ever since I was a little boy I thought about going to the United States and when my parents actually allowed me to participate in an exchange program, my dream came true.

When I first arrived in America I was positively surprised by the many people who cared about my being here and I would like to thank all those good friends who helped me to feel homelike in a foreign society. Although SHS at first seemed to be stricter than my school in Germany, I learned to like the American education system especially because of the teachers who did everything to support me.

During the months that I have spent in Saegertown I loved meeting new friends, playing basketball and watching TV, that is when I didn't have any homework to do. After all this I know that when I return to Germany I will miss America and the friends that I found here . . .

WASHINGTON, HERE WE COME!

The Saegertown Marching Band went to Washington, D.C. over Memorial Day weekend, 1985. Saegertown was joined by bands from Freedom, Reynolds, and Shenango high schools. Several activities were planned throughout the weekend. We watched the Marine Drum and Bugle Corps perform. Each band played at a different monument and they all joined at the Washington Monument for a massed concert. A black and white party was given for the bands ending a very fun weekend.

Which way now?

Preparation for the assembly.

Reigning royalty

It was a beautiful night to crown a queen, and also to celebrate a great tradition. During a triumphant game against Union City, a halftime presentation was put on for the large audience. Eight young ladies were driven across the football field to the grandstand, where they anxiously awaited to hear which one of them was to be crowned Saegertown's Homecoming Queen. The lucky winner was Miss Fannie Stoll who cried with joy as she was being crowned by Duane Mosbacher.

It was hard to pick a Homecoming Queen to represent our school. Each girl was selected, by the male seniors, from a multitude of other senior girls. Then the candidates were announced to the rest of the school. During homeroom each student voted on the person they wanted to be queen. The afternoon before the game, during a pep assembly, the eight young ladies with their escorts, paraded across the gym where each was honored by the student body and faculty. Each candidate wore an expression of pride and anxiety, waiting to see who will be announced the new Homecoming Queen during that night's game.

1985 Junior-Senior Prom
"Now and Forever"

The 1985 Junior-Senior Prom was held at the Elk's Club in Meadville with the theme "Now and Forever" by Air Supply. The color scheme was wine and ivory and the flowers were pink carnations, red roses, and baby's breath. Disc jockey, Greg Runnels, provided the evening's entertainment and the prom portraits were taken by Robertson's Photography.

Balloon drops and other decorations were done by the prom committee composed of juniors and advisors Ronald Shorts and Sharon Johnson. This helped make a beautiful prom and a great time.

The prom aides for the evening were sophomores Brenda Byham and Mark Phelan, Carrie Proper and Brian Ewing, and Sherry Kurinko and Adam Leszak.

The evening's highlight was the crowning of the new prom royalty. Junior class president, David Hasenkopf, did the honors of naming Duane Prussia and Shelly Garton as the 1985 Prom Queen and King.

Sports

The Saegertown Panthers had a tough but successful season in which they shared the FCVC title with Maplewood. Due to injuries, the team lost some of their key players but that didn't stop them from winning 7 of their 8 games. Great plays made by some outstanding athletes and team spirit abled the Panthers to go to Districts where they played other champion teams. Darcangelo, an excellent coach and teacher, worked the dedicated athletes so they took pride in themselves and the team. This showed during the triumphant games both on the field and on the faces of the Panther patrons. One was proud to be from Saegertown, and didn't mind the cold nights just to see Saegertown win another one.

The girls had a good season this year. They finished with a total of 9 wins and 5 losses. At the Meadville Tournament and Saegertown Tournament they came in 3rd place.

The J. V. had an excellent season. They were undefeated. The 9th and 10th graders came in first place at the Cranberry Tournament. The team had a lot of younger players this year and they did real well. Next year we will be in for an OUTSTANDING team!

'We Mourn Seven Heroes'

Barely a minute into its 10th orbital mission, the shuttle Challenger exploded, killing six astronauts and teacher Christa McAuliffe, the first "ordinary" American to venture into space. "We mourn seven heroes," Ronald Reagan said later in the day, as a stunned nation watched replays of the fireball on television and grieved with the astronauts' families.

What went wrong with America's 56th manned mission in space? At the end of the week, NASA officials still combed through their computer tapes at the space center in Houston and fished shuttle debris out of the ocean off Cape Canaveral, closing in on the cause of the accident. Meantime, the shuttle program faced an indefinite delay, and the Challenger disaster, contrasted to the triumphs of the unmanned Voyager 2 probe, raised questions
